What is a Bodog? (Multiple choice)

- A) courageous Hungarian hunk
- B) freedom fighter
- C) engaging red blend who loves garlic
- D) black lab offering unconditional love
- E) all of the above

Yes he is intense, but don't worry he does not bite.

This multi-dimensional wine opens to plump black cherry, blackberry, blueberry and spicy beach plum on the layered palate. Value-added complexity is provided by black licorice, clove, anise, pepper, cinnamon and cocoa with hints of roasted coffee on the lush extended finish. As you take a second sip re-read the blend and savor the layers Barb has meticulously blended for you. From the stimulating 2003 vintage this Bodog excites the senses with its body and extract that expands graciously on the palate. This shapely beauty is yummy, warm & cuddly.

Named after our great great grandfather who was a 'freedom fighter', civil rights lawyer and member of parliament in Hungary. Bodog emigrated to the United States with his family to escape the Monarchists death sentence in 1849. The current Spelletich coat of arms is dedicated to this courageous and independent young man.

Bodog dares to be different, dynamic and purposeful, made to enhance food and to be enjoyed with family and friends. He is a good boy; balanced, polite, sweet, he smells good and responds with unconditional companionship. We love Bodog for his engaging and lovable nature and consistent zest for life.
